Entango Global

SAN FRANCISCO -- Entango Corporation is now offering nonprofit organizations the ability to collect contributions and other financial transactions from members residing outside the United States through its Entango Global services.

Current clients Women for Women International, Rutgers University, @ngelwish, Babson College, Douglass Associate Alumnae, WomenVenture, The Coalition for an International Criminal Court, World Federalist Movement and ILGA-East Bay Pride are already beginning to benefit from this scalable new feature to Entango's leading fundraising software.

Danielle Walters, Women for Women's (www.womenforwomen.org ) Director of Development, explains that "Entango has provided Women for Women International with exceptional, thorough, and prompt service -- enabling the organization to capture international donors effectively. During the organization's recent appearance on the Oprah Winfrey Show (with 30 million viewers nationally and aired in 120 countries) Entango was with Women for Women International every step of the way. Their partnership is invaluable to us."

"As an Internet based charity for children living with HIV/AIDS, the minute the @ngelwish.org (www.angelwish.org ) website went live, we were global," said Shimmy Mehta, Founder/CEO. "Entango was crucial in enabling our visitors from around the world to make a difference in the lives of our children affected by HIV/AIDS. Their software provides a seamless contribution solution that truly endears a visitor to give online. In addition to a great product, their supportive staff have been true business advisors interested in providing our nonprofit with solutions that fit our needs."

"We share our clients' commitment to successfully expanding their Internet fundraising operations to include global transactions," said Steve Harkness, President and CEO of Entango. "Internet fraud screen has permitted the advent of international credit card transactions, and we are seeing increased demand from our clients who understand that nearly half of all charitable contributions come from outside of the
